

Close to You at DesignerDigitals

We had an incredible weekend last weekend at the digicrops and only wish we could have met more of you there! Definitely an event we will be continuing! But we're home now, catching up and winding down summer getting ready for school to start! I KNEW summer would fly by, but seriously... it went lightning fast!

Our designers has been busy this week with nearly 40 new items and the 2 new 25 cent items you'll not want to miss because we are excited to tell you about our new Summer's End Contest. We are saying goodbye to Summer and hello to Fall by giving away an 8GB Nanochromatic in the color of your choice! How can you win? Use one or both of the 25 cent items and post your page using all DesignerDigitals products in the Summer's End Area by midnight, Friday, August 28th. All the entries will then be posted in a poll in the forums where you can vote for your favorite page to win! Check out more details in our community.

And, of course, we have 2 NEW 25 cent items for today and tomorrow ONLY! Don't Miss them!

Featured Layout of the Week

Congratulations to hguenthe. Her layout San Antonio Digi Crop - Pg 5 has been selected as the featured layout of the week where she won a $ 5 DesignerDigitals Gift Certificate for product of her choice!

Adobe Photoshop or Elements Tip of the Week:

Close to You: How to Close Multiple Open Files

You can also watch this tip on video on our blog: [Digital Scrapbooking Tips and Tricks: How to Close Multiple Open Files \[Video\]](#)

When I'm working on a project or editing my photos in Photoshop or Photoshop Elements, I often have a number of images open at once.

When I am ready to move onto a new project, there are several ways for me to close the files. There's not a right way or a wrong way to do this - like most things Photoshop, it's a matter of personal choice and what seems most comfortable for your working style.

One way to close the files is to click the X at the top right corner of each open document one by one. This can be time consuming if you have a large set of photos open.

Another way to close all of the open files is to close out of Photoshop and reopen. Depending on the speed of your computer and the number of personal settings, this can take more time than you are willing to devote to the task.

A faster way to close all of the files is to select File > Close All or use the keyboard shortcut: Alt + Ctrl + W (Mac: Opt + Cmd + W).

The last method is to hold the Shift key as you click on the X at the top right corner of the open file on top of the stack. This quickly closes all of the open files in sequence.

The next time you need to close a number of files in Photoshop or Photoshop Elements, try a few of these methods to see which fits your style.

Have a great week and we'll see you at DesignerDigitals!

Katie and Randy
